THE GRIP OF THE MOVIES.

Members of the Producing Managers Association are said to view with growing alarm and almost complete discouragement the increasing success of the picture play in its process of shoving aside the spoken drama. Of course the latter is able to hold its own in the large centers of population, where original productions and the best actors are to be seen, but in the smaller cities it is playing a losing game on the "one night stands" it is already practically knocked out. One after another the small city and town theatres have become "movie" houses because they can no longer compete. Even where such a theatre still keeps up the fight its one-night company plays to practically empty seats, while the "movie" shows are all crowded. One reason for this, as the managers must know, is that the spoken drama companies sent out on the road are greatly inferior to the original New York casts, while every town in the remotest parts of the country gets the original picture play as first produced by the best talent, it being merely a matter of shipping the films.

And there are other advantages on the side of the picture drama. It is very much cheaper. It takes less of the play-goers' time and as there are several repetitions in a single day convenience can be consulted in the greatest freedom. Often it is equally absorbing in spite of the lack of spoken words and the effect of the trained human voice. Often it even more convincing because of the greater realism or fidelity to life accomplished through its multitude of outdoor as well as indoor scenes, a feature which the spoken drama, with its present unavoidable limitations, can not rival.

CHURCH DANCING.

A movement toward the employment of "movies" for religious purposes has been reported, but it is quite new to hear of a church movement to bring dancing under ecclesiastical direction. Such a suggestion was made recently before the General Synod of the Reformed Church at Reading Pa., by Rev. David H. Fouse who proposed that a dancing floor be made part of the equipment of the modern community house. "Whatever we may think of it," he said, "more Christian young men and young women are dancing today than ever before and it is a thousand times better to have this dancing under the guidance and supervision of the church than to leave it to commercial interests with the consequent temptations that we know so well." According to the dispatch, the assembled brethren were at first shocked, but the applause following Mr. Fouse's speech "showed that many of the delegates approved."

Dancing of a kind formed part of religious ceremonial in ancient times and the custom still holds in some parts of the world, but such movements to the sound of music were rather of the Isadora Duncan "soulful" gyration type and had little in common with either the 'square" or "round" dances so believed by the young people of our time. There would seem to be little probability that churches generally will ever favor the suggestion quoted above and it may be accepted as practically certain that it will not apeal to the men and women of America who have an unfailing appetite for social gatherings and like to dance and "sit out" until the small hours of the morning.

BARUCH THE GREAT

Representative William J. Graham of Illinois as chairman of the special committee investigating war expenditures has discovered the "power behind the throne." He thus describes Bernard Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board: "Barney has more power during the war than any other man in the world. Practically controlled absolutely the industries of the United States and originated the price-fixing system for all commodities and put it in operation. Barney Baruch suggested taking over the railroads by the government. Barney Baruch regulated the production of steel, copper and iron. Barney Baruch had supreme authority over the by-products of the coke ovens of this country and dominated at the source of supply the nitrates and fertilizers of the world. Barney Baruch regulated the shipping of the United States, laid down its policy as to what should be sent abroad and the quantity—and what shouldn't." Representative Graham emphasizes that "those are not my statements but replies under oath made by Mr. Baruch when examined before our committee.

LESS OUTPUT, GREATER COST.

President Rea of the Pennsylvania Railroad says, in reference to rail employees, that "the cost to the public of decreased output is quite likely to exceed the cost of increased wages." That is true not only in the business of railroading but in most other industries. Several plants already have shut down because of the falling off in quantity and quality of output, even after big wage increases had been granted. Until a different spirit animates the ranks of labor the country can look for no relief from the abnormal conditions that prevail.

It is reported that the railroads are in the market for 1,500 locomotives, and thousands of freight car orders for many of which already have been placed. With the gradual removal of the blight left by Government ownership, transportation facilities and service will return to normal once more, and do its part in lowering the cost of living.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN JUNE 27

Chautauqua's first advance man J. N. Staud, reached Charleroi this morning and began a preliminary outdoor advertising campaign for the seven-day program which begins June 27. The business district had its first touch of Chautauqua publicity, and season tickets are being placed on sale by the local committee.

This city is one of 70 on the circuit operated this season by the Redpath Company in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky. Starting in Wheeling, June 22, the big brown tents move eastward through Pennsylvania and then swing to the southwest, through West Virginia and Kentucky. Ohio territory is covered thoroly in late July and August.

Of many headline events on the 1920 program, probably the most conspicuous are the three-act comedy, "It Pays to Advertise." Dunbar's Royal Dragoons, a singing band of 18 members; Sir John Foster Fraser of London, England, Pamahasika's Performing Pets and the Great Lakes String Quartet.

Special interest always is attached to Chautauqua's opening day. Patrons have come to expect an unusually strong program at that time, and it seems that this year the Redpath policy has not deviated, for the joint offering includes the College Singing Girls and Roscoe Gilmore Scott, humorous writer and speaker.

DUMPS REAL BEER INTO THE RIVER

W. D. Brightwell, a representative of the Internal Revenue office of Pittsburg, was in Roscoe on Wednesday of this week, and as a result the catfish in the Monongahela river have been carrying on something frightful. Mr. Brightwell went to Roscoe under orders from the revenue officials and dumped 550 barrels of real beer into the river.

Asked why the action was ordered Mr. Brightwell said he did not know the wherefore. He was ordered to dump the beer and it was dumped. The suds were taken from the Moose Brewing company's plant, employes of the brewery doing the heavy work under direction of Mr. Brightwell.

This is the second stock of beer Mr. Brightwell has destroyed in the county under orders from the Pittsburg revenue office. About a month ago Mr. Brightwell was instructed to dump the stock of the Crescent Brewing company of Washington. Two hundred and fifty barrels of the real stuff were poured into Catfish creek.

The North Charleroi School Board will receive applications for grade teachers. Call for application blanks at Sec'y address.

May End Letter Writing.

A French inventor is said to have perfected a device that threatens to do away with necessity for writing letters. One talks into a machine, which makes a cloth record that can be transmitted to the person with whom it is desired to communicate, and all he has to do is to set his phonograph going and listen. Hereafter, young ladies in the business of stenography and typewriting who receive offers of marriage from eligible young men may feel it the part of prudence to accept.

Active Service.

A rather remarkable instance of a woman's long, unbroken record comes from France, where Mme. Laforest, the oldest woman postal official, has just retired after 49 years of service without once having been absent from her post, except during the recognized holidays. Entering the postal service in 1863 at the age of sixteen, she attained her sixty-fifth year last month, when, very much against her will, she was placed on the superannuation list and forced to retire from active service.

Accounting for the Balkan Hatred.

"I can't figger it out any other way," mused Stanley Livingston Mutshaw, the amateur philosopher, "that the Serbs, Bulgars, Roumanians and the rest of those feverish folks in the Balkan states are all related to each other by marriage—brothers-in-law, mostly, I should judge. Otherwise there seems no way of accounting for the hearty, whole-souled manner in which they hate each other."—Kansas City Star.

Hospital Has Unknown Benefactor.

A gift of £10,000 from unknown sources was made to one of the great London hospitals a few days ago. The hospital received an anonymous brown-paper parcel, heavily sealed, and giving forth a curious rustling sound when handled. When it was opened out poured a flood of crisp Bank of England notes. The notes, when counted, totaled the handsome sum of £10,000.

Fear Trouble After Spilling Salt.

In many of the rural districts of Russia people when they spill salt not only toss a pinch over the left shoulder, but also crawl under the table and come out the other side, in order to avert ill-luck; while in New England, to break the evil spell of spilling salt, every particle is supposed to be collected and thrown on the stove to be consumed.

Thinks the Word Will Stick.

A magazine writer is credited with the invention of the word "Highbrow." It was coined to express a blend of "snob' 'and "academic." He first used it when, as a reporter, he had occasion to describe the proceedings of societies who talked about the betterment of the drama. He thinks that the word will be assimilated by the dictionaries.

Church 900 Years Old.

The nine-hundredth anniversary of the oak-walled parish church of Greenstead, near Ongar, Essex, England, has just been celebrated. The church, which is built of split oak trees, is the only one of its kind in the country, and bids fair to last another 900 years.

History of the Lemon.

The lemon has a clear history. Unknown to the Greeks and Romans, it was introduced into Spain by the Arabs in the twelfth century, and in 1494 was being cultivated in the Azores and shipped in large quantities to northern Europe.

Not Any Use There.

"There are some things," said the man with the high brow, "that money won't buy." "I s'pose there are," replied the other with the overlapping chin, "but there's no use tryin' to use 'em to get an extension of your credit."

Sabotage.

A reader asks this center of enlightenment to explain the meaning of the word "sabotage." Did your mother ever cut your hair? That's the apotheosis of sabotage.

Frank (the new office boy)—"Please, sir, you told me to file these letters, sir, but wouldn't it be easier to trim them off with a pair of scissors?"

SITES OF HISTORIC INTEREST

Many Places Around Dutch City of Doorn Should Be of Interest to the Kaiser.

Doorn, the little Dutch town now the home of the former emperor of Germany, is surrounded by sites that may give the former kaiser cause for reflection, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. At Rheenen he might find an historical companion in misery. Friedrich of Pfalz, the exiled king of Bohemia, took refuge there. Perhaps the most noteworthy aspect of Rheenen is its tower, which bears the name of Kuners, after the daughter of the ruler of the Orkney Isles, who accompanied Ursula and her 11,000 virgins on a pilgrimage to Rome. Upon their return, according to the legend, now known to have been based on a misreading of a Latin text, the maidens were coming ashore to Cologne when Huns killed them all except Kunera. Later she leaped to her death from a castle parapet.

From the Moravian settlement of Zeist the former kaiser might learn of humility, virtue and genuine piety. Considerable property is held in common by the people. There widows married women and girls are classified by their attire. At Maarshergen the Pyramid of Austerlitz was erected by Marmont's soldiers to commemorate the crowning of Napoleon. At Utrecht the treaty was signed which opened the way for Britain's present great commercial power, as it gave her Gibraltar and several colonies.

PURPLE DYE FROM SHELLFISH

Possibility That New Industry May Be Developed, Since the Supply Is Inexhaustible.

On the Pacific coast of Costa Rica, especially in the region about Cocos bay, there abounds a kind of shellfish called the "nacascol" from which a fine purple color is obtained. So far no way has been found for preserving this dye, and the industry has remained in the hands of the few old people who take the trouble to dye a few ounces of thread every summer. The process is very simple. On picking up the shell from the beach or detaching it from a bowlder, the gatherer blows her breath into it, whereupon a few drops of a greenish liquor ooze out. This liquor is collected in a clamshell and after a sufficient quantity has been collected the thread is passed through it, soon after assuming, on exposure to the sunlight, a beautiful purple color, which is absolutely fast after it has turned purple. It is thought possible that the dye turns fast only on exposure to the air and that the liquor could be preserved by keeping the air from it. There is little doubt that this industry of dyeing thread could be extended to greater proportions if an extensive demand at good prices could be found for the drestuff.

General Wood's First Battle.

When Geronimo, the last of the great Apache chieftains, began murdering American women and most hideously torturing American children in New Mexico and Arizona, Leonard Wood, then an army surgeon, exchanging his surgeon's scalpel for a rifle, became one of a famous little company which chased the monster over the sandy and burning plains of the Southwest and northern Mexico, and did not desist until the enemy surrendered. The reports of Generals Lawton and Miles witness to the healthy-minded zeal which Wood manifested toward the barbarians who wreaked their savagery on American women and children; and the fact that Wood received that greatest of all military distinctions for his efficient bravery in this campaign—the medal of congress—is testimony of the same kind. —Burton J. Hendrick in the World's Work.

Trunk Lines in the Air.

Long distance air transportation will soon be a commonplace. The successful trip from London to Australia recently completed has encouraged Great Britain to lay out a number of great air routes, connecting England by great trunk lines with its possessions. The service will be maintained at first by airships and later doubtless by airplanes. The first of these trunk lines will connect London with Canada by way of Newfoundland. Another line will operate between London and Egypt and will be extended to South Africa. The air lines will be backed by large government subsidies.—Boys' Life.

That trained nurses are being employed in increasing numbers shows that employers generally are recognizing their services. Previous to 1919, only 66 industrial firms employed trained nurses. Today more than 871 industries have nursing services. The industrial nurse has proved to be a good investment. She is a teacher of hygiene, and health education means prevention of accidents, which in years gone by have cost industry many thousands of dollars.

Once Thought to Be Worthless.

The shark is found to furnish about 11.9 per cent of hide, 31.3 of edible food, and 44.7 of fertilizer material, and a ten pound liver yielded three quarts of oil. The oil, fairly free from fishy odor, is well adapted for tanning and paints. The dried fertilizer material equals about 20 per cent of the total weight of the shark, and contains 18.3 per cent of nitrogen. The hide which may be utilized for leather.

Insidious Humor.

A budding author who was making excursions into humor sent a paragraph to the editor of a daily paper. Not finding it printed within a reasonable time or hearing from the editorial department he wrote about its welfare: "I sent you a joke about ten days ago. I have heard nothing respecting its safe receipt, and should be glad to hear whether you have seen it." The editor's reply was as follows: "Your joke arrived safely, but up to the present we have not seen it."

One Cause of Family Trouble.

Good Dr. Josiah Oldfield has discovered that "although marriages are made in heaven, they are too often married at the breakfast table." But we find that they are still oftener marred at the dinner table. This is because of small platters. Statistics teach us that 9.4 husbands out of every ten carve on platters so ruinous to tablecloths, shirt fronts, coiffures, wall paper, ceilings and the moral nature of man, woman and child that the only logical consequence is dispute.

Conservatism.

Conservatism is often nothing but mental or moral inertia, and measures one's unwillingness to readjust his living or his thinking to a new fact or a new idea. . . Selfishness love has been completely enthroned in the individual, or in society, until love has been competely enthroned. It is at this point that the religious element enters in as essential to the realization of our social ideal.—Dr. Josiah Strong in "Our World; The New World Life."

Tomorrow's Burdens.

It has been well said that no man ever sank under the burden of the day. It is when tomorrow's burden is added to the burden of today that the weight is more than a man can bear. Never load yourselves so, my friends. If you find yourselves so loaded, at least remember this—it is your own doing, not God's. He begs you to leave the future to him, and mind the present.—G. Macdonald.

Little Hint.

A little girl came down to dessert at a dinner party and sat next to her mother. This lady was occupied in talking to her neighbors and omitted to give the child anything. After some time the little girl, unable to bear it any longer, with sobs rising in her throat, held up her plate and said: "Does anybody want a clean plate?"

Justifies Impatient Father.

Law Notes quotes the following from the opinion of Justice Riddell of the high court of justice, Ontario, in a habeas corpus case over the custody of a child: "And even if he did not wish his sleep to be broken by a crying infant, it is understood that this is not without precedent in the tenderest and most conscientious of fathers."

Superstitions Concerning Salt.

According to a popular Norwegian belief, one will shed as many tears as may suffice to dissolve the quantity of salt which one has spilled; while in some parts of Yorkshire it is often said that every grain of salt spilled on the table represents a tear to be shed.

New Horticultural Idea.

Using mercury vapor lamps in her greenhouse, a Scotch woman horticulturist not only forces seeds to sprout and plants to grow in half the usual time, but also produces greater depth of color in the vegetation.

To Know Thyself.

How can a man learn to know himself? Never by meditating, but by doing. Endeavor to do thy duty, and thou wilt at once know what in thee lies.—Goethe.

Going the Pace.

DONORA'S NEW SCHOOL BUILDING UNDER WAY

The contract for the erection of the new High School building in Donora, which is to be erected along new and original lines, was awarded a few days ago to the Donora Lumber Co., and work on the structure is already under way. The contract price for the building is $136,000, while the contract for the heating went to the Columbia Warming and Ventilating company on a bid of $16,785.

The plumbing was awarded to Regan & Hormell of Charleroi, whose bid was $7,048, and the same company will also do the wiring on its bid of $2,998. This makes a total of $162,781 as the amount of the contracts for erection, plumbing, wiring and heating. In addition to these figures the school board will have to furnish the equipment which will amount to several thousand dollars.

The contracting company already has a quantity of material on the ground, and work of construction will be pushed as fast as weather conditions and delivery of necessary materials will permit. However, the building will not likely be ready for occupancy before some time next year.

CITATION FOR THE FORD MOTOR CO.

A Certificate of Merit, together with a citation by the Director of Air Service, War Department has just been received by the Ford Motor Company, Detroit. The letter announces that the "Chief of Ordnance also made similar recommendation and citation." It reads:

"This company produced 3950 complete Liberty 12 motors of unusually good quality. They also produced all cylinder forgings used by all plants in the manufacture of Liberty Motors, and they invented and developed special machinery and processes for this purpose. This plant was 100 per cent on war work."

Besides the cylinder forgings, the Ford Company perfected and manufactured all the cylinders and all the bearings used in American made Liberty Motors.

All war work handled by Henry Ford for the United States Government was done at actual cost.

CITY HAS NO RUNNING WATER

Vladivostok, Political Capital of the Far East, Lacks What Americans Consider Essential.

A city with some 350,000 inhabitants and no running water—such is Vladivostok, as described by Phil Norton in the columns of Travel. Nor is this lack of an everyday convenience made less pressing by the fact that Vladivostok jumped from a population of about 80,000 people without adding to the number of houses. The Manchu water vender, with his hogshead mounted on two wheels and drawn by sturdy, thick-coated Siberian horses, takes the place of pipes and faucets, filling his hogshead at a shallow well in some private or public yard, and retailing the commodity at the rate of two buckets a day for a month for about $2 in American money. He carries the buckets at the end of a pole over his shoulder. If one can manage to live in reasonable comfort in Vladivostok, a coolie boy can be procured to bring water to one's room, and heat it in the kitchen. Or again, if the water vender has failed to arrive the coolie boy will gather snow and melt it, and there is one's morning bath. If one wants more generous ablution one goes to the public baths; and if one wants a drink of water one thoroughly boils the merchandise of the water vender before drinking it. And this city of the primitive water supply is now the political capital of the far east.

WILLING TO SWIM ACROSS

Ocean Couldn't Be Damper Than Alsace, Was the Assertion Made by Negro Yank.

We wanted to watch the negro troops defile, according to Edith O'Shaughnessy in "Alsace in Rust and Gold." They appeared very smartly dressed till the eye got to their feet. Such a collection of ripped, torn, cut, down-at-the-heel footwear was never seen before. I spoke to a couple of them very much en repos, who were leaning against a fence near the motor, as I got in.

One answered with a broad grin: "You an American from America?"

"Yes."

"Well, have you heard this here war's about over?"

The coalest-black one then contributed this to the conservation:

"When peace is signed dis here nigger stahts to walk home."

"What about the ocean?"

"I'll take a swim, lady. The water can't be no colder and no dampeh dan dis here 'Alice' land.

The mulatto by his side said: "I subscribes," and became a pale gray at the bare idea of getting colder or damper.

Venice Art Being Restored.

Now that the war is over and Venice has recovered from the nightmare of having her wealth of art destroyed by shell fire, or, worse still, looted by soldiers, one by one her treasures from underground cellars or distant galleries are being returned to their places.

One of her most admired possessions, however, Titian's "Assumption of the Virgin," which is counted among the seven great masterpieces of the world, the pride of the Venetian [illegible] has been returned, not to the gallery, but to its original home in the choir of the beautiful gothic Church of the Frari, for which it was painted by Titian in 1516.

The magnificent frame of carved marble originally built round it now shows off the glorious picture to advantage and the Venetians are delighted that it should be restored to the position where its donors and the great genius who composed it intended it to remain.

Embarrassing Situation.

I have been teaching at the same place for fifteen years, have a family and up to a short time ago was considered respectable, but my most embarrassing moment also greatly lowered my standing in this town.

At recess, when all the pupils had gone to the recreation room and I sat alone at my desk, one of the young lady teachers came in and, after making me swear to keep her secret until the close of the school year, told me she had married my cousin the day before, and now that we were cousins she wanted me to kiss the bride.

She was very pretty and I needed no second invitation. But as I lifted my head after giving her a resounding smack, there stood our superintendent in the doorway, and I, sworn to secrecy, could not explain.—Exchange.

The Good Heckler.

Elihu Root said at a New York luncheon:

"I like to attend some radical meetings on account of the heckling that goes on at them. Hecklers are much cleverer than the speakers as a rule.

"A radical orator was being heckled the other evening by a broad shouldered lad in a brown cap. The orator got the worst of it, and he lost his temper. Finally he said in a voice of rage and hatred:

"'Take off your cap, young man, if you want to question me!'

"'Take off your cap! Take off your cap!' yelled the orator's supporters on the platform.

"But the broad-shouldered youth grinned and shouted:

"'I didn't take off me cap when I went over the top.'"

SAY THEY SELL IT OPENLY IN DUQUESNE

The Elizabeth Herald says that "the saloons in the borough of Duquesne, where whiskey is sold openly at 50c a drink and real beer at 10c a glass are attracting many autoists from some of the up-river towns." No wonder.

UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR

A published interview with the mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the notorious draft dodger who recently escaped from prison, furnishes an amusing illustration of the difference between history as it is written and history at it is sometmes understood. During the Civil War as durng the late war, the need of able-bodied men at home as well as at the front was officially recognized. This accounts for the fact that no discredit attaches to Grover Cleveland's earlier career in consequence of printed accounts thereof containing such statements as the following: "During the war, his two brothers being in the Union army, the support of the family fell upon him. Unable to enlist, he borrowed money to pay for a substitute."

Upon this bit of history Mrs. Emma Bergdoll bases the mirth-provoking assumpton that a distinguished President of the Unted States and her disgraced son are kindred spirits. Standing among her pots and pans, which she chooses to handle herself, this rich woman said to the reporter: "Yes, I named him Grover Cleveland after President Cleveland was elected the second time. President Cleveland was the greatest President because there wasn't no wars nor bloodshed when he was President. No sir. And he was a slacker, too, just like my Grover. How do I know? God in heaven, ain't I got a book upstairs what tells all about it. Yes sir he was a slacker and the greatest President we ever had. He got to be a great man and if my Grover is a slacker, maybe some day he will be a great man, too." Disrelish for the association of the name of a honored President with that of a notorious offender may now give place to gratitude for the boon of a hearty laugh.

THROWING MONEY AWAY

The charge that the War Risk Bureau has made overpayments aggregating $28,000,000 and possibly as much as $100,000,000, is one that will be readily credited by men who were formerly in the service and who have observed the manner in which the business of the war Risk Bureau was conducted. There have been numerous instances which have come to the attention of men who were in the service in which the Bureau insisted on making payments that were not due. Many a soldier, or his family, has sent back money that was paid through carelessness on the part of the War Risk Bureau. The Bureau insisted upon making payments on the assumption that certain soldiers were dead, whereas they were still alive. The fact of the matter seems to be that because politics figured so largely in the organization of the supervisory branches of the Bureau there was inefficiency in practically all of its work. Some measure of inaccuracy must be expected, but overpayments to the extent of $28,000,000 would seem to be entirely unjustifiable.

TAX ON BIG ADVERTISERS.

Representative Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to fix second class postage rates The rates on portions of publications not devoted to advertising would be fixed at 1 1-2 cents a pound. On portions of publications devoted to advertising the following rate, within the several zones applicable to fourth class matter would be fixed: first and second zones 1 1-2 cents; sixth zone two cents; fourth zone three cents, fifth zone 3 1-2 cents; sixth zone four cents; seventh zone five cents, and in the eighth zone 5 1-2 cents. The present rates on second class matter, irrespective of the amount of advertising matter, range from 1 1-2 cents a pound for the first zone to 5 1-2 cents a pound for the eighth zone under the present law. The bill will automatically increase the rates to ten cents a pound in the first zone with correspondingly higher rates in the other zones.

Some more pepper has been added to the Democratic stew by the repudiation of the leadership of Homer Cummings by one of the big four delegates in New Jersey. He has launched a vigorous attack on the Democratic chairman, declaring that more full blooded and virile leadership of the party is needed. He makes it plain that he does not intend to follow the Cummings' leadership.

Liberty Bonds will continue at a low price so long as high grade railroad bonds are offered on a seven per cent basis. And the rail bonds will have to pay that rate so long as the Federal Reserve Board charges six and seven per cent for the money loaned through the Federal Reserve banks.

The taxpayers may well ask why they should defray the expenses of a trip to the Far East by 165 members of a Congress determined to keep Uncle Sam from mixing in foreign affairs.

Improved Telephones.

Part of the construction of the telephone consists of a pocket containing a small quantity of granules of carbon through which the vibrations pass and the difficulty with this has always been that its full efficiency has not been secured by reason of the fact that these particles become packed in and are therefore nonactive. This condition is attributed to the moisture of the atmosphere. To remedy this defect some French inventors have made a microphone in which each individual grain of carbon is in a cell by itself so that no two grains can touch each other, being in contact only with the walls of the cell and diaphragm of the instrument. Experiments have shown that the new microphone is remarkably sensitive and gives a purer tone than any constructed on the old principle.

What Hath He Done?

A man passes for what he is worth. Very idle is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and idle is all fear of remaining unknown. "What hath he done?" is the divine question which searches men and transpierces every false reputation. A fop may sit in any chair in the world nor be distinguished for his hour from Homer and Washington; but there can never be any doubt concerning the respective ability of human beings when we seek the truth. Pretension never wrote an Iliad, nor drove back Xerxes, nor christened the world, nor abolished slavery. Never a sincere word was utterly lost. Never a magnanimity fell to the ground. Always the hearts of men greet and accept it unexpectedly. A man passes for what he is worth.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Bound to Have Some Kick.

"Don't you want to see the world a place of complete peace and harmony?" "No," replied Mr. Growcher. "Just as soon as you get the world peaceful and harmonious a lot of people will arise and kick because competition has been eliminated."

About Umbrellas.

You should never fold up an umbrella when it is wet. Always let it stand with handle downward so that the water can run off the ends of the ribs instead of running toward the ferrule end and rusting that part of the umbrella.

Non-Conductor Paper Helmets.

A helmet made of paper, and alleged to be strong enough to resist powerful blows, is an invention that has attracted some attention. The process by which the novel headgear is produced has not been divulged, but it is known that chemicals are employed to harden the material, without adding to its weight. Several styles have been made, the lightest weighing about 7 ounces, and others slightly more. In a recent test, a pound bolt was dropped on one of them from a height of 40 feet, with the result that a barely perceptible dent was made in the paper. The novel head coverings are proof against water and acids, and are non-conductors of electricity.

Famous Alaskan Sweepstake.

The Alaskan sweepstake covers a distance of 426 miles and each contestant is allowed as many dogs as he wishes. The driver guides the sled from the handle bars at the rear and rides or follows on foot. Each contestant is photographed on leaving the starting point and is photographed again at the finish so that no substition can be made. He must carry the same equipment at the finish as at the start. If a dog dies the owner must have him on the sled at the finish. The races sometimes last about five days, but the distance has been covered in 70 hours. About five and one-half miles per hour is the average pace.

The close connection between glaciers and prevailing winds, especially in winter, has impressed a geologist exploring the high mountains of northern Scandinavia. The prevailing winds of unexplored regions may be shown by the glaciers. From inquiry along this line, it appears that in the ice age a permanent high pressure area existed over the ice fields in place of the Icelandic low pressure area, and a low pressure area in place of the present Azores high, while the north Pacific low pressure of winter was more pronounced. Stormy winds prevailed between the great centers of pressure.

CHIROPRACTIC

Consists Entirely of Relieving Pressure on the Nerves at the Point where they leave the Spine

What is meant by "Straight" Chiropractic?

Every trade, profession, or occupation combines the extremes of efficiency and inefficiency. Chiropractic is no exception to this rule and it is a lamentable fact that there are many who call themselves chiropractors whose only qualification is a diploma from a correspondence school or a "diploma mill" and to whom the profession means simply an easy method of getting a living. Invariably these incompetents atempt to conceal their lack of skill by filling their offices with catchpenny devices instead of filling their heads with knowledge, and then pose as "broad-minded" people who consent to use their superior judgment to pick the good out of every method for the benefit of the dear public. Perhaps their "broadness" consists entirely of a fillingness to perpetuate themselevs professionally by any method except that of attaining proficiency.

Straight Chirpractic is a term used to distinguish those who understand and practice Chiropractic from those who call themselves chiropractors and practice anything that promises a dollar.

A straight chiropractor is one who knows from observation and experience that Chiropractic is right. He feels the impulse of the big idea. When he contemplated studying Chiropractic his first concern was to select the best school and when in school to work honestly and consciously to master his studies and attain proficiency. His diploma to him means long hours of honest, intelligent, painstaking effort and in his practice he proves that disease is caused by pressure on the nerves at the point where they leave the spine.

He confines his efforts to locating and adjusting, by hand only, the misaligned vertebrae and will not stoop to a method of exacting money. He does not cease studying when he leaves school and his pride and joy is his efficiency in getting the sick well. He is more concerned with health than dollars and as a result patents seek him.

Always he lives and works with the big discovery and marvels at the wonderful results. To him Chiropractic is a growing necessity.

He radiates enthusiasm and confidence for he knows his business, and in season and out of season he teaches and practices what he knows to be true.

In his office you will find no hot lamps to warm the chilly; no violet rays to counteract the blues, no stretching machines to make the short lengthen: no "dietetic fads to find the food a weakened stomach will digest; no salts, sulphur, or electrim baths to forcibly eliminate the poisons; no vibrators to stir the sluggish into life. He knows that the Supreme Architect and Builder designed and built the human body and that when the machine does not run properly an adjustment is all that is required. He scorns these catchpenny confessions of incompetency and confines his efforts to learning how to locate and correct the cause of disease. He will not prostitute his science for money and you will find the space in his offices filled with waiting patients instead of catch-penny devices.

STRAIGHT CHIROPRACTORS work up to a standard instead of down to a patient, prejudice, or proce.

Rather a "Tall" Yarn.

Ralph of Coggeshall, an English abbot of the thirteenth century, told a staggering yarn: The Orford fishermen brought up one day in their nets a sea man who had no hair on his head, but a long ragged beard. Kept in Orford castle, he ate fish and meat both raw and cooked, but could not be made to speak. Yet, when the fishermen took him out one day for a swim, though he dived under the nets which they spread to prevent his escape and grinned derisively at them, he followed them back to land and captivity. At last, however, the "wild man' had had enough of it, managed to escape to sea and disappeared.

How Do the Classics Help Us?

The answer lies in one little word, art. The classics, more than any modern literature, teach us art, and art is the conscious purpose of man to make this world more beautiful. Philip Sidney says that the object of poetry is to make this too-much loved world more lovely; I should extend his definition a little further and say that the object of art is to make this world more lovely, more lovable, and more loved.—Henry D. Sedgwick, in the Atlantic.

Broken Leg Set by Concrete.

A laborer in Columbus, O., had his broken leg partially reset by the concrete which had been dumped on him from a bucket. The blow of the bucket broke his leg, and the concrete, flowing out, made a firm cast around the limb. The doctors who finally got to work on the broken bone had first to remove the concrete, and report that the cast had done its work very well, even helping to reset the bone.

A Geary county (Kan.) farmer built a "hog-tight" fence around his feed lot just before he received a big shipment of Arkansas "razorbacks." The next morning the hogs were scattered all over the county. It was found that most of them could clear the fence with a standing jump, although some of them were compelled to make a running jump of it. But all of them could jump it.

Don't Take the Lawyers Seriously.

A lawyer in a courtroom may call a man a liar, scoundrel, villain or thief, and no one makes complaint when court adjourns. "If a newspaper prints such a reflection on a man's character," says the Hill City New Era, "there is a libel suit or a dead editor. This may be owing to the fact that the people believe what an editor says."—Kansas City Star.

OATES WILL WORK FOR IRISH FREEDOM

At a meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom, held last week, John J. Mr. Oates will assist with others in trying to have a plank inserted in the Republican platform recognizing the Repubic of Ireland. He left for the west on the noon train.

Two Meals a Day Sufficient.

Though reticent on many matters, the British officers just released from a German fortress agreed in one matter. They found two meals a day sufficient. In England people are sometimes addicted to five—breakfast, lunch, tea, dinner and supper. The continental fashion is a snack for morning coffee, a midday meal and an evening meal. But when the great army of Xerxes was marching through Asia Minor, and city by city had to provide food for the day, the people thanked God that Xerxes and his army ate but once a day.

Delightful and Unpleasant States.

One of the most delightful states of mind to which the average man is subject is uncertainty as to the exact sentiment entertained for him by a woman whom he admires, and whom he knows to like him, but whom he is not dead set upon winning for himself. One of the most unpleasant states is certainty that a woman deeply loves him when it is inconvenient or impossible for him to reciprocate. Yet often only a hair's breadth separates these two states—or only a few minutes in time.

Cat the Cause of Panic.

The lights went out while most people were at their evening meal at Calcutta, India, the other day. Nervous people feared it was the work of Bengal terrorists and looked about for weapons. In a little while the lights came on again. The incident was due to a cat, which jumped on a transformer at the electric station, making a short circuit. The cat was electrocuted.

Starting on Road to Success.

If you are to be successful you must ever keep in mind that your employer will have a much higher value of your services if he knows that you are observing what is going on around you and the work of your immediate superior. It is observing the small as well as the great things in business that counts. Attention, an intelligent imagination as well as observation, and you are on the high road to success.

The man who can solve the problems of underproduction and inadequate transportation is the public benefactor most needed just now.

STUCK IN THEIR MEMORIES

American Slang Phrases That Became Popular Among the Filipinos and Frenchmen.

"All right" was generally the first English phrase the French picked up from American troops. "All right" answers probably a quarter of the questions that an American is called upon to reply to. In the great mass of jargon in a strange tongue, it stood out on account of constant repetition. The poilus were wont to practice it over their cognac and vin blanc glasses, in place of their own "tres bien," and yell it out to the Yankees on the side of the cafe.

As the French mastered "all right," so the Filipinos took up "gangway" during the American occupation of the Philippine Islands 20 years ago. Pursuing rough-house tactics that were not permitted during the last war in France, the American troopers would go down the streets of the island towns, pushing the natives into the gutter and yelling "gangway!" It became so that whenever a native heard "gangway" half a mile off, he immediately began to make way for the gang.

During the insurrection, at the height of one of the rebels' "offensives," the American troops were astonished to see a great swarm of Aguinaldo's soldiers come rushing over the top, waving bolos and spears and yelling "Gangway! Gangway!"

The Filipinos thought "gangway" was a vile American cuss word. They later decided that Col. Fred Funston and his Twentieth Kansas doughboys didn't care even if they were sworn at.—Ralph Duffy in Home Sector.

LOOK TO FUTURE OF FOREST

Experts Point Out Folly of Practices Which Prevent the Reproduction of the Trees.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

That young growth in the woods, known popularly as "brush," is something to be rid of, is a prevalent but mistaken conception since a forest cannot maintain itself long without reproduction. For the sake of getting a scattering of green grass in the spring it is the short-sighted practice in hundreds of localities to fire the woods regularly. This results in killing thousands of small trees needed to continue the forest in the future, and also injures a large amount of marketable timber. Furthermore, such burning destroys a large amount of rich vegetable fertilizer.

Cattle and hogs in hardwood stands, and hogs in long-leaf pines, keep the forest from being restocked. Damage from insects can be reduced by cutting timber at the proper time of year and by utilizing lightning-killed trees without delay, since they harbor destructive pests. Cattle destroy the productive leaf mulch which keep the trees growing during long, dry spells. All large openings where light comes through into the forest should be filled with younger trees.

Telephone Defect Remedied.

Part of the construction of the telephone consists of a pocket containing a small quantity of granules of carbon through which the vibrations pass, and the difficulty with this has always been that its full efficiency has not been secured by reason of the fact that these particles become packed in and are therefore nonactive. This condition is attributed to the moisture of the atmosphere. To remedy this defect some French inventors have made a microphone in which each individual grain of carbon is in a coil by itself so that no two grains can touch each other, being in contact only with the walls of the cell and diaphragm of the instrument. Experiments have shown that the new microphone is remarkably sensitive and gives a purer tone than any constructed on the old principle.—Indianapolis News.

Coaches to Go in the Trossachs.

An epoch of more than local interest was closed recently, when the four-in-hand and other coaches formerly in use on the famous Trossachs route were brought under the auctioneer's hammer.

For more than 60 years the four-in-hand coach with its team of powerful horses and its post-boy in scarlet coat and white hat has been a familiar and picturesque feature of the season on the road between Callander and the Trossachs.

The picturesque four-in-hand coach is being displaced by the utilitarian motorcar, and a fleet of them is being put upon the road by the new company which has taken over the Trossachs hotel from the Blair family, in whose hands the famous hostelry has been for more than half a century.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Origin of the Word Canada.

The origin of the word Canada is obscure, but it is now generally accepted that it is derived from an Indian word, "Kannatha," meaning a village or collection of huts, and it is supposed that Jacques Cartier, hearing this word used by the Indians with reference to their settlements, mistook its meaning, and applied it to the whole country. Quebec is said to be derived from the Indian word "Kebec," meaning a strait, and was given to the site of the present city of Quebec from the peculiar configuration of the St. Lawrence river at that point, for the river there grows narrow and from its deep waters rises the bold height on which the ancient city stands.

SEEK TO RESTRAIN STREAMS FROM POLLUTION BY SULPHUR

Pennsylvania Railroad Co. Is One of Complainants

COAL COMPANY NAMED IN BILL

Legal action has been taken by the officials of the Mountain Water company, the Dunbar Water Supply company and the Pennsylvania Railroad company against the Blair Coal company of Westmoreland and Fayette counties, in an effort to restrain them from permitting the sulphur water issuing from the mines to enter the streams of mountain water which flow into the large reservoir in Fayette county, belonging to the water companes. The reservoir serves more than 60,000 people daily.

Several years ago the Pennsylvania Railroad company constructed a larger reservoir on Indian creek as well as pipe lines along the lines of the Southwest and Monongahela Divisons, for the purpose of supplying water to their motive power. Prior to that time the Monongahela river and other streams had been drawn upon for this supply, but the increasing flow of sulphur water from the mines into these streams compelled the railroad company to abandon them and seek the new supply in the mountain streams. While using river water it was found that many engines were put out of commission by reason of leaky tubes in the boilers caused by the action of sulphur water, which not only caused great loss to the railroad company, but likewise a shortage of motive power at a time when it was badly needed. It was for the purpose of doing away with this condition that the railroad company impounded the waters of Indian creek and spent large sums of money for the purpose of laying big pipe lines along the railroad to take care of the needs of their engines.

The case will be watched with great interest, as coal mines have always heretofore drained the sulphur water from their workings into any nearby flowing stream and their right has never been questioned.

SUSPECTS ARE CHARGED WITH BANK ROBBERY

ARREST RAILROADERS FOR INCITING RIOT

Charged with inciting a riot, assault and battery, pointing firearms and felonious shooting, sixteen P. & L. E. railroad men were arrested at Newell on Wednesday and taken before Justice Garletts of Brownsville where they gave bail in the sum of 500 for their appearance at court. It is claimed by the prosecutor, John Elekonich, a brakeman, that on last Sunday night when he went to work in the Newell yards he was attacked by the sixteen men, who assaulted him and fired many shots, none of which took effect.

RUN DOWN BY AUTO ON TAYLORS RUN ROAD

Martin Starnisa, a Slav, was brought to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital at an early hour this morning, suffering from injuries received a few hours before when run down by an automobile on the Taylor's Run road. Starnisa was walking along the highway near the school house, on his way probably to VanVoorhis, when an auto driven by James A. Roberts, of Hazzard, on the way from Charleroi to Monongahela, came along, and ran the man down. Starnisa was so badly injurer in the accident that it was impossible for Roberts to bring him to the hospital but the man was removed to a nearby farm house and word sent to Chief Albright for the local ambulance. The man was brought to the police station, where Dr. Hill gave him first aid and he was then taken to the hospital. His left leg was broken and crushed and he received a severe cut on the head. Mr. Roberts did not abandon the man after the accident, but remained at hand until relief came. He will return to Charleroi this evening to ascertain the extent of the man's injuries.

INDUSTRIAL INCREASE IN GREENE COUNTY

Green county one of the leadng agricultural and sheepraising counties of Pennsylvania, increased its industrial production value almost 240 per cent between 1916 and the close of 1918, according to the figures compiled by the State Department of Internal Affairs. The value of the output of mines, mills and factories in that county n 1916 was 1,826,000 and in 1918 $6,284,000. Investments in the county rose in the same period from $8,196,000 to $13,358,000. The bituminous coal output in 1918 was valued at over $3,000,000 coke $500,000 and tin plate at $1,506,000. Almost 2,000 persons were employed in industry.

KNEE DEEP IN JUNE

Big Towing Steamer, Last of Her Class, to Leave for South

The big towing steamer "John A. Wood," which was purchased several months ago from the Pitsburg Steel company by the Standard Oil company and which has been on the Elizabeth Marine Ways for some time where the boat was practically rebuilt will leave for southern waters about the 10th of June. The boat will take two steel oil barges, which were built by the American Bridge company at Ambridge for delivery at Baton Rouge, La. The Wood was built by the firm of John A. Wood & Son many years ago, and was used in the coal towing trade between Pittsburg and New Orleans. At theformation of the River Coal combine in 1899 the Wood was transferred to the new corporation and was used in a similar capacity by the new coal company.

A couple of years ago the boat was sold to Capt. W. Barry Brown, and Steel company.

When theWood leaves for southern waters it will practically mark the passing of the larger type of towing steamers from the Pittsburg district many of which had been constructed in this district to take care of the lower river coal towing trade.

The Wood was one of the earliest steamboats to be equipped with compound machinery, the original engines of the Hartupee type still being in service on the steamer. It is understood that the boat will be re-named after being taken south and called after the city where her headquarters will likely be, Baton Rouge.

LABORERS HERE, THEY WILL BE LANDLORDS IN NATIVE LAND

Reason Why So Many Foreigners Are Returning To Old Country

WILL BE WEALTHY OVER THERE

During the past few months Donora has lost quite a number of foreign workingmen, all of whom have gathered together their possessions and left for the land of their nativity. This exodus has been going on forseveral months, and apaprently the outward flow of humanity has not decreased in volume. One steamship office in Donora, during very recent weeks, has sold over 6,000 worth of tickets and the prospects are that these figures will be greatly increased during the next few months.

Now comes the true erplanation of these departures. During the war period the foreign workmen saved much more money than ever before in a similar length of time and any of them have been large purchasers of Liberty Bonds. One foreigner on being interviewed, gave his reasons for returning to the land of his birth. He and three others who bought tickets at the same time, own small farms in Slovaka. He said that when the exhanges his American money, of which he had about 4,000 for kronen and when he goes to his old home he will be looked upon as a wealthy man, a landlord among his native people, while in America he was only a mill laborer. He will be able for a few kronen to procure cheap labor for his farm and take things easy. That is his idea of it, and the idea of the majority of others who are returning.

In some instances however, it is said they will find conditions much changed, food scarce and high priced, clothing almost impossible to obtain and other conditions that are not at all like they were before the world war.

WILL ASK FOR SUNDAY LAW ENFORCEMENT

A meeting of all persons interested in the enforcement of the Sunday and prohibition laws—was held Wednesday evening last by the citizens of Brownsville in the Central Presbyteran church. It is alleged that there is an open sale of whiskey and beer in Brownsville and South Brownsville, as well as Sunday baseball and the giving of entertainment at frequent intervals on this day for which admission is charged. Steps will betaken for the enforcement of the laws.

COUNCIL WAS READY TO ENFORCE EDICT

The carnival now exhibiting at the local ball park will go from here to Bentleyville for the next week's stand. As stated in Friday's Mail the management finally complied with the resolution of council to pay $75 for the license fee, as well as post $200 in cash to guarantee that there would be no gambling at any of the concessions.

However, it required decisive action on the part of President Repman and Roy I. Carson, a member, before the desired deposit was made. It developed that the deposit had not been made late in the afternoon when the two members noted above called on the Borough Solicitor, D. M. McCloskey, to prepare informations against the company, charging them with violations of the State and borough laws.

Employes of the carnival who were at the Hotel Wilbur at the time, saw the two men go to Mr. McCloskey's office, and surmising something was about to be done, made a hasty trip to the borough building, where they left the amount of the desired deposit with Chief Albright, who immediately turned it over to the borough clerk and the license was issued.

Council was determined that the terms of the resolution granting the license should be carried out, and had they not been complied with there would have been a wholesale arrest very early in the evening.

DONORA CHAUTAUQUA BEGINS JUNE 16th

The Donora Chautauqua, supplied by the Coit-Alber circuit, will open Wednesday, June 16th, and continue for a period of seven days. A fine program has been prepared for the series of entertainments.

COAL QUOTED AT VERY HIGH PRICE

"Spot" coal was quoted at $7.50 per ton during the week, or at the rate of 28.5 cents per bushel. Of course this does not refer to all coal mined, for most of the production is being sold on long time contracts, which were made early in the year. However, even at the high price quoted for the commodity operators have not been able to take advantage of the market, chiefly on account of the inadequate car supply, which has restricted their production to the minimum amount. If there was anything like normal car supply the price would be considerably under the figures quoted above.
